

press release

Leeds College of Technology Print Department to Host Print Employer's Networking Event

Leeds College of Technology are to play host to a print employer's networking event, entitled "Meeting the Challenge", on Thursday 30th April.

The event will take place at the Cookridge Street site with key industry speakers attending, offering advice on a whole range of subjects including business matters, the latest technical innovations on the market and training and funding opportunities.

The event, supported by West Yorkshire Lifelong Learning Network, is free to attend and provides the perfect opportunity to network with those in the industry and exchange ideas.

Guest speakers and topics include:

- ❖ Business Link – advice and information on funding
- ❖ Esko – advances in digital workflows
- ❖ Ipressia Software – advances in variable data technologies
- ❖ Konica Minolta – how digital print complements existing litho printers
- ❖ Manufacturing Advisory Services – advice and support for SME companies
- ❖ SunChemical – ink and your carbon footprint
- ❖ UPM – paper and the environment

They, along with representatives from the Leeds College of Technology, which from 1st April officially became part of the Leeds City College, will be on hand to answer any questions.

The event will run from 5.30-8pm and guests are welcome to attend at a time to suit. Refreshments will also be available.

Demand for places is high, so to reserve your place contact John Jones, Telemarketing Officer by either phone or email on:

tel. 0113 297 6326

email: j.jones@lct.ac.uk

Leeds College of Technology Cookridge Street Leeds

LS2 8BL

www.printcollege.co.uk

press release

Notes to editor

* From 1st April 2009 Leeds College of Technology became part of the new Leeds City College.